A current Highland Crest ID or an ID badge from a local business may be used to establish a non-resident account. Local patrons who are not able to provide a current proof of address may also be issued a non-resident card until such proof is provided. Juveniles are not eligible for non-resident cards.

A person using a non-resident card has the following privileges:

- ❖ Initial checkout is limited to one (1) item. Once this item has been returned (no earlier than the next day), regular checkout limits below will apply.

Guardians are financially responsible for any items that are checked out on an attached minor's card even if they are not present when the items are checked out. Any blocked account will impact all attached accounts. In accordance with state law (TCA § 10-8-101), guardian access to confidential information of a minor cardholder is restricted to information related to the payment of fees. Requests for information about materials associated with patron accounts (adult or child) can only be responded to if the the barcode number on the library card is provided.

Under no circumstances will movies with "R" ratings be checked out to anyone under the age of 18, regardless of whether a parent has given the minor permission to use an adult card. Other materials available for checkout have no age restrictions. Parents or legal guardians are responsible for deciding what is appropriate for their children, within the confines of the law, and should monitor what their children are checking out.

Accounts that have been suspended due to failure to return items in thirty (30) days must be paid in full with either cash or credit/debit card before privileges are restored.

Non-returned items

Items may be deleted and charged to the account once they are 90 days overdue. The charge will be the list price in the catalog record. Once the items have been deleted and charged to the account they cannot be returned for a refund.

Lost or Damaged Items

Patrons are encouraged to inspect items for signs of damage before taking items from the library. The library visually checks items for damage upon check in, but damaged items do occasionally make it onto the shelf. Patrons should bring any damage to the attention of library staff when they check out. Under no circumstances should a patron attempt to treat or repair library materials. Patrons will be charged for any damage caused to library materials due to such attempts. The library is not responsible for any damage or infestation that is believed to be caused by the use of library materials.

Books and other loaned materials returned with damage judged to be above fair wear and tear will be removed from the collection and placed in repair status. Damage fees may be assessed to cover the cost of manpower and the materials needed to repair items. Damaged or missing spine labels, barcodes, and RFID tags are each assessed a $3 fee. Fees for torn pages, pen markings, or similar damage will be assessed on a case by case basis.

Irreparably damaged or lost items are billed at full list price. This price is generally part of the catalog record for the item. The library will not accept items purchased by customers to replace lost or damaged items unless:

- ❖ Arrangements have been made before the account is in a blocked status.
- ❖ Replacement items are deemed to be in excellent condition by the Accounts Manager.
- ❖ Replacement items are in the same format as the lost item (hardback, widescreen edition, etc.).
- ❖ $10 per item processing fee must be paid. This fee partially covers processing costs to prepare the item for the collection.

Suspected Infestation, Mold & Odors

The library prioritizes the safety of library materials. Stokes Brown Public Library has established building maintenance programs and circulation procedures to minimize the risk of infestation, including regular inspection and treatment by a qualified pest control company, staff inspection of all returned materials, and the heat treatment of suspect materials. The library may not be able to conclusively identify a particular pest or type of mold and reserves the right to act in a way that maximizes the safety of the collection.

The first time a patron returns items with signs of possible insect infestation the account may be monitored for future issues. Examples include; one or two dead insect(s), insect waste, or a single live insect. Items previously returned by the patron may be checked for signs of infestation as well. If a second impacted item is found, the account, and those in the household, may be temporarily restricted to a set number of items that must then be returned in sealed zip top bags. These items will be heat treated and examined. If two circulations are clear, regular privileges may be reinstated. If they show further signs of infestation, the library may require a statement of treatment from a licensed pest control agency to fully restore privileges to anyone in the household.

If items have signs of heavy infestation and are unfit for future circulation the patron account will be charged for the items and they will be disposed of. This may include multiple live bugs; especially in different life phases, dead insects and/or waste in multiple items, or other damage that makes it more likely than not the damage occurred while the item was in possession of the patron. The library may require a statement of treatment from a licensed pest control agency to fully restore privileges to anyone in the household if the insects appear to be of an invasive type such as cockroaches, bedbugs, or of a similar variety.

Patrons will not be charged for a small amount of mold in a dry book. Patrons will be charged for items that are returned wet or heavily molded. The library makes efforts to eliminate strong odors that may trigger respiratory issues from items before recirculating them. Patrons may be charged for items which have strong or noxious odors that cannot be removed.

- ❖ Replacement cards are $2.50.
- ❖ Faxes are $1 per page. The maximum charge per fax is $10.

Right to Privacy

The Stokes Brown Public Library (SBPL) recognizes your right to privacy regarding the questions you ask and the materials you borrow. Tennessee Code Annotated (TCA) states: "(a) Except as provided in subsection (b), no employee of a library shall disclose any library record that identifies a person as having requested or obtained specific materials, information, or services or as having otherwise used such library. (b) Library records may be disclosed under the following circumstances: 1) Upon written consent of the library user; 2) Pursuant to the order of a court of competent jurisdiction; or 3) When used to seek reimbursement for or the return of lost, stolen, misplaced, or otherwise overdue library materials." (TCA 10-8-102).

Information SBPL Collects

The Stokes Brown Public Library collects the following information for library card registration: name, address(es), phone number(s), date of birth, gender, email, and assigned barcode. The library also retains records listing all materials checked out, overdue materials, fines paid and waived, and current interlibrary loan. When a borrower returns an item, the patron barcode number may be retained on that item. SBPL may also collect information from donors and other library supporters.

SBPL does not ask library visitors to identify themselves or reveal any personal information unless they are making use of the SBPL public workstation computers or reserving the community, board, or study rooms.

Some of the databases SBPL offers require the barcode number of the user's library card for verification purposes. Database vendors (including TN READS) do not have access to patron records. These sites may have different privacy policies.

How SBPL Protects Your Information

Patron library use records are private and confidential under Tennessee law. If you consent to give us your personally identifiable information by completing a registration card, SBPL will keep it confidential and will not sell or license personal information to any third party without your consent, unless we are compelled to do so under the law or to comply with a court order. Only those authorized by SBPL have access to personally identifying information for the purpose of performing library work.

To ensure the privacy and confidentiality of individual library use records, patrons are advised to not allow others to use their library cards or library account information. SBPL deems patrons who allow third persons to use their library cards or library account information to have consented to the access of their private and confidential library use records by the recipients of their library cards or account information.

In addition:

- ❖ Patron information will not appear on any circulation records available to the public.
- ❖ When notifying patrons of the availability of reserved or requested materials, titles will be given only to the person making the request.
- ❖ Requests for information about materials associated with patron accounts (adult or child) can only be responded to if the patron provides the barcode number on the library card. Parent or guardian access to confidential information of a minor cardholder is restricted to information related to the payment of fees for overdue, lost or damaged materials.
- ❖ Pursuant to Tennessee Law, a patron may provide written permission for multiple other individuals (Authorized Agent) to access their library account information, checkout, renew, or reserve materials, or to pay fines or fees. The library card holder must appear in person at the library and give permission in writing.
- ❖ Due legal process is required to access SBPL computers or any information stored therein.

Legal Compliance

SBPL authorizes only the Library Director to receive or comply with requests from law enforcement officers. SBPL will not make library records available to any agency of state, federal, or local government unless a subpoena, warrant, court order or other investigatory document is issued by a court of competent jurisdiction that shows good cause and is in proper form. SBPL will not respond to verbal requests. As a public institution, SBPL is legally obligated to comply with the information request requirements of the Patriot Act, enacted on October 26, 2001. Should library records be requested under the Patriot Act, the law states that library staff shall not inform the person about whom the information is requested, nor speak to co-workers, the media or other government officials about the inquiry.

Library users who have questions, concerns or complaints about the library's handling of their privacy and confidentiality rights should file written comments with the Library Director. SBPL will respond in a timely manner and may conduct a privacy investigation or review of policy and procedures.
